About Me

With over a decade of experience in media, I have acquired the skills to help your organization grow. I began my career in radio in 2012 and transitioned to television and video production in 2015. With my primary focus in news for the last 9 years, I have gained a vast knowledge on many topics including government, consumer issues, numerous athletic events, education, court proceedings, and large event planning. The video industry also afforded me the opportunity to earn my Part 107 sUAS license.

I have also freelanced for a variety of clients, most notably, the UTC Mocs, Baylor School, The Tennessee Radio Hall of Fame, and Chattanooga State Community College.

A well produced video can be the key to building a successful business. With my experience, attention to detail, and desire for excellence, I have the knowledge and creative skills to do just that for your organization.
